Effective Teaming Strategies for Hearing Interpreters Working with Deaf Interpreters

Explore feed techniques, individual roles and effective strategies of deaf/hearing teams

Presented in ASL by Jennifer Harvey

Jennifer Harvey is the Project Director for the Training and Assessment Systems for K-12 Interpreters (TASK12) project as well as the Interpreter Mentorship, Education, and Training (IMET) project with TAESE at Utah State University. She is nationally certified with 30 years of experience as an American Sign Language interpreter practitioner, educator, and mentor. She has developed and administered innovative grant funded programs designed to support interpreters in their professional growth toward certification through effectiveness mentorships. She comes from a heritage language background and honors with pride the rich experience of being raised by parents who are Deaf in a bilingual, bicultural environment among a community she treasures. Jennifer earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Educational Interpreting and a Master of Science degree in ASL/English Interpreting Pedagogy.
